THUS SPAKE LORD MELCHETT

The Jewish newspaper, the "Day," of New York, last week published an authorized interview with Lord Melchett on the Zionist situation which exploded like a bombshell among his lordship's Jewish friends in America, and particularly in the circles of Zionist leadership.

Lord Melchett (Sir Alfred Mond) is an avowed Zionist. He is president of the English Federation of Zionists. During the past few years he has been closely associated with Dr. Weizmann in shaping Zionist policy. Latterly when the Jewish Agency scheme was brought forward by Dr. Weizmann on behalf of the Zionists and Mr. Louis Marshall on behalf of the so-called American Jewish "notables," Lord Melchett was more or less active in furthering the development of the proposition. The recent conference of the Agency Commission held in England was housed in Lord Melchett's palace. Lord Melchett presided over it. His name was at the top of the list of signatories to the Commission's report. The present visit to America of Lord Melchett was supposed to have been motivated mainly by his desire to attend the next conference of the Agency Commission which is shortly to be held. It was expected that Lord Melchett would assume a leading role in the deliberations at this conference.

Now in his interview with the "Day," Lord Melchett expressed opinions which seem to contradict those formerly ascribed to him. The gist may be summarized as follows:

(a) Let the premise be established that he has not ceased to be a Zionist. He is vitally interested in the upbuilding of Palestine.

(b) Palestine cannot be built up by public funds and national subsidies.

(c) The Palestine venture can be successfully achieved only on the basis of accepted capitalistic economics, that is, by private initiative and private investment. Palestine is a promising field for profitable investment by capitalists and industrialists, and can be dealt with on its own economic merits.

(d) It follows that the financial activities of the Zionist organization and Hadassah, being of a public nature, might well be curtailed, and eventually dispensed with altogether.

(e) It follows further that the proposed activities of the Agency in the direction of augmenting Zionist income would be producing a useless addition to what is already superfluous, and hence entirely unnecessary.

(f) The proposed activities of the Agency in the sphere of diplomacy would be useless and vicious. Interference by a handful of American Jewish capitalists with the political problems of Palestine would be resented both by the Palestine Jews and by the extra-Jewish powers, and would be apt to do damage to the political status of the Palestine venture.

(g) The Jewish Agency rather than uniting the forces of Jewdom for Palestine would be a source of discord, and misunderstandings. Differences of opinion between the Zionists and the so-called non-Zionists would be bound to crop up, and eventually the partnership

RABBI FERDINAND M. ISSERMAN

One hundred and thirty-five thousand dollars is the goal of the campaign for funds of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies. Ten thousand dollars more than last year is required. This increase in need is a healthful sign. It is indicative that the scope of Federation's work is being increased, and that the standard of its work is being raised. The Toronto Jewish community is young and growing. Its institutions are still in the process of development. Their needs must increase, if they are to meet the larger demands which inevitably will be placed upon them. The fact, therefore, that Federation needs more funds this year should be regarded as an encouraging sign, indicative that its officials are meeting the needs of a growing community.

To the individual members of Federation, it means that they should attempt to raise their last year's contribution by about ten per cent. If you have community spirit, and heed the age-old injunction of Judaism, you will make that increase without being urged.

Federation this year must attain its quota. The fair name of the Jew is at stake. Nothing we Jews have done in Toronto has redounded so much to our credit in the larger community as the big-visioned way in which we have maintained our charities. Our Christian neighbours admire and respect the high standards of our philanthropic work. Do you not want to retain that respect and admiration? Do you want to maintain that high standard? You can by increasing your subscriptions.

THE BLOOD MURDER ACCUSATION IN THE UNITED STATES

The pernicious effect of the anti-Semitic propaganda sponsored by the Dearborn Independent and others, as well as the universal jingoistic re-action following the world war, was evinced last Yom Kippur, when in a small New York village the disappearance of a little girl led the authorities to suspect that she had been immured in the synagogue to meet the ritual demands of the Day of Atonement. No baser myth has ever been circulated. None has appeared so frequently and in so many localities. None has so often been refuted—but periodically it has raised its head. The first record of an official blood murder accusation goes back to 1140 in Norwich, England. Thence like a plague it spread over Europe and even appeared in Asia Minor. No one can estimate the harm it has done to Jews. Popes have denounced it. Even Jewish converts to Christianity have proclaimed it outrageously false. But despite it all, the myth has lived. In the last year of the tottering Russian autocracy, it seized upon Mendel Beiliss, who was at first convicted but subsequently liberated when the civilized world thundered its protest. When it occurred in Russia, the most reactionary of world powers, one was horrified, but not amazed—anything was possible in the land of the Czar. But that it should occur in the United

What Is An Assassin?

A man armed with a shotgun and trembling with anger was running down the road in hot pursuit of another man who was fleeing for all he was worth.

The armed man noticed that some distance ahead was a third man. This happened to be Chone Chaikin, a philosophe: from the city who had come out into the country to commune with Nature.

"Stop him!" shouted the armed man to Chone, "stop him!"

The philosopher did not budge.

"Are you deaf?" yelled the armed man. "Stop that assassin!"

"Assassin? What do you mean by that?" inquired the philosopher.

"What a strange question! An assassin is one who kills!"

"A butcher, then?"

"Don't be a fool. I mean a man who kills another man."

"Oh, yes, a soldier!"

"Imbecile! A man who kills another man in time of peace!"

"Oh, I know—an executioner!"

"You donkey! A man who kills another man in his home."

"Now I have it—a doctor."

By this time the armed man decided to continue his pursuit unaided.

Final approval of the model of the monument to Haym Salomon, the Polish-Jewish patriot of the American Revolution, has been given by the Art Commission of New York City, it was announced by Benjamin Winter, President of the Federation of Polish Jews and Z. Tygel, executive director. Mr. Winter also announced that Park Commissioner Herrick had approved the site at Broadway and West Sixty-sixth Street which has been selected for the location of the statue.

The monument will follow the design submitted by Anton Schaaf, New York sculptor. The main figure of the memorial will be a life-size statue of Salomon. A semi-circular exetera, depicting with six bas reliefs in allegory, the historical period in which the American-Jewish Revolutionary patriot lived, will complete the figure.

"The sanction of the Park Commission and Arts Commission," Mr. Winter states, "marks the culmination of efforts stretching over nearly a century to honour this great patriot. As far back as 1850, a bill was introduced in Congress, asking that governmental recognition be given to the service rendered by Salomon in helping to finance the Revolution. Some forty years later, in 1893, a special committee proposed to Congress that a gold medal be coined in recognition of Salomon's services to the cause of American independence. A few years ago, another large committee, consisting of both Jews and non-Jews, launched a movement for the erection of a memorial to Salomon in Washington. In 1911, an organization was formed with the object of interesting Congress in founding a university dedicated to his memory. Distinguished citizens of all faiths were on this committee. Despite all of these efforts the project made little progress until the Federation of Polish Jews three years ago sponsored the memorial, feeling that it was the appropriate organization since this revolutionary patriot was one of the first Polish-Jewish emigrants to America."

FUNCTIONS OF THE "RENOMMEE" VIRGIN MILK (Genuine)

THE "RENOMMEE" VIRGIN MILK PERFORMS THREE ESSENTIAL AND DIFFERENT FUNCTIONS.

FIRST: IT REPLACES, WITH ADVANTAGE, ALL CREAMS OR MASSAGE PASTES, AND DISPENSES WITH THE AID OF WATER, COMPRESSES AND ALL THE USUAL ACCESSORIES.

SECOND: IT PRODUCES THE UTMOST PERFECTION IN TOILET, WITH OR WITHOUT POWDER, GIVING A NATURAL WHITENESS AND SOFT SATINY TOUCH TO THE COMPLEXION, AND THIS WITHOUT BECOMING VISIBLE TO THE EYE WHEN DRY PROVIDED THAT IT IS USED PROPERLY. IN FACT THE CLEAR WHITE THAT RESULTS IS SEEN SIMPLY AS THAT OF A NATURALLY BEAUTIFUL SKIN; AND NO ONE, WITHOUT KNOWING THAT IT HAS BEEN USED, CAN POSSIBLY SUSPECT ITS PRESENCE. IT IS ALSO MOST DELICATELY PERFUMED.

THIRD: PROLONGED USE ACTING AS A TONIC ON THE SKIN AND GLANDS, THROUGH THE PORES, RESULTS IN ESTABLISHING RELATIVE AND NATURAL SUPPLENESS, FRESHNESS ND LUSTRE.

IT IS NOT SUPERFLOUS TO INDICATE A FOURTH AND DOUBLE FUNCTION WHICH HAS AN IMPORTANT BEARING ON THE OTHERS ON ACCOUNT OF THE FORESIGHT WITH WHICH IT IS EXAMINED: THAT THERE IS NO LONGER ANY OBSTRUCTION OF THE SWEAT GLANDS FOR THE REASON THAT THE PORES ENTIRELY ABSORB THE TONIC LIQUOR CARRYING THE WHITE GLANDULAR JUICES, SPONGY AND STRENGTHENING, TO THE BENEFIT OF THE WHOLE SYSTEM; RESPIRATION THROUGH THE PORES REMAINS FREE AND A NUMBER OF ILLNESSES, OF WHICH MANY WOMEN COMPLAIN BITTERLY WITHOUT SUSPECTING THE CAUSE, ARE AVOIDED. THE CAUSE IS SIMPLY THE ABSORPTION OF THE SALTS OF LEAD WITH WHICH NEARLY ALL COSMETICS AND PAINTS ARE LOADED. IN FACT, A SLOW, NATURAL AND PERMANENT RESULT IS TO BE EXPECTED RATHER THAN A TEMPORARY AND ARTIFICIAL MANIFESTATION PROVIDED THAT ITS USE IS NOT OVERDONE; FOR BY APPLYING LAYER ON LAYER, THAT "PLASTERED" COMPLEXION WILL RESULT—A THING HEARTILY DETESTED BY MEN WHO FEAR THAT LACKLUSTRE DECEPTION MAY LIE BENEATH THE MASK OF ARTIFICIAL BRILLIANCY.

WE WILL CONTINUE IN THE CONQUEST OF THAT "BEAUTY WHICH IS THE SPLENDOR OF TRUTH."

SHOOTS HOLD-UP MAN

J. Shapira, jeweller, 5036 Sherbrooke Street West, shot a bandit in the left side and leg when the man entered his shop, Friday, October 6, at 6.30 p.m.

According to the information gathered by the police and the detectives who investigated the case, Shapira was alone in his jewellery shop and had taken the day's cash, $95, from the safe and placed it in a drawer beneath the counter. Just then a man walked in and pulled out a large pistol. He pointed it at Shapira.

"Put up your hands," he ordered, "and be quiet or I'll shoot." Shapira obeyed, and was then told to sit down on a nearby chair. Still covering the shop-keeper with his pistol the intruder opened the cash drawer and took out the money. He then ordered Shapira to stand up and attempted to remove from his finger a diamond ring and his tie pin.

In arising from his chair, Shapira noticed that his revolver, which was on the counter within reach, had been overlooked by the robber, and he seized it. The robber struck Shapira on the forehead with the butt end of his revolver and there was a scuffle for the possession of Shapira's weapon. Shapira managed to free his hand and he fired twice at his assailant and both bullets hit their mark. The robber then dropped his own weapon and ran out of the door.

He was seen running east on Sherbrooke Street and down Claremont Avenue, where he went into the janitor's quarters of an apartment house. The citizens who had followed the hold-up man then telephoned to the Notre Dame de Grace police station.

Constables Paquette and Chartrand commandeered a passing automobile and quickly reached the janitor's quarters of the apartment house at 260 Claremont Avenue, where they found the wounded man. They took him to the station and summoned the ambulance from the Western Hospital.

The janitor of the apartment house told the officers that the man had come into his place and had asked him to summon a taxi which was what doing when the officers arrived. The prisoner was questioned by the police but made no statement. He was taken to the hospital, where the doctors pronounced his condition serious, having failed to locate the bullet that had penetrated into the man's body.

COMMENTARIES

[illegible] WRITES!

Please, please "[illegible]monoth." Do not ask me to comment on every "little thing" that takes place in our community. And please, when you do write to the author of Commentaries, sign your name. You may be lucky to receive then, some consideration and mercy at my tactless, chalkbacic pen, which is not very often dipped in honey; which does not often write "sweet little nothings" to please the vanities of the readers. To the individual who wrote the anonymous letter asking why in the world do Orthodox Shuls imitate the Reform Temples in introducing prayers in English, etc., my answer is: "Place this question before the Agudoth Hachabonim"—the Union of Orthodox Rabbis—I am sure some reply will be given.

L.M. AND L.M.—A CONTRAST

The above two sets of initials are abbreviations of the names of two conspicuous Jewish personalities—Louis Marshall and Lord Melchett. But what a contrast! Marshall is the courageous champion of Israel who does not cater to the politics of nations when the cause of Israel is at stake. Marshall is fearless and he does not "shmeichel". Witness his bold protests against any infringement upon Jewish rights anywhere. His voice in behalf of his persecuted brethren is heard and listened to the world over. Marshall is the greatest Jewish protagonist of our day. Now what about Lord Melchett? He certainly is to be held responsible for omissions in behalf of Israel. He certainly seems to lack that courage to speak out in due season. Lord Melchett visits Canada. He knows what a vexing problem "immigration" to Canada presents at this present hour. He is aware of a movement sponsored by Nordics to admit in the Dominion, only immigrants who come of British stock. Lord Melchett is asked his opinion about immigration. And the press report that this great industrialist urges the "peopling of Canada with men of the British race." Why, the fine thing for Lord Melchett would have been to have reminded the "imperialists and Nordics" that he himself is not of British stock. The courageous thing would have been to point out that "foreigners," non-Britishers, have contributed a due share toward the upbuilding of the great British Empire. But Lord Melchett, son of a German Jew, speaks not in behalf of the misunderstood "foreigner" in which group is certainly included the Jew. No! Politics, nickel and a lack of courage prevent Lord Melchett to speak out. The Prophet of Zion ever spoke courageously. Is Lord Melchett to be identified with the sons of Zion? L.M. and L.M.—what a contrast!

FEAR NOT HABONIM

That was a most delightful affair which the Maccabaean Lodge, Zionist Order of Habonim, held last Sunday. I rather liked the installation ceremony. In its ritual is found the fine phrase—"the spiritual solidarity of Israel." I am in favour of anything and everything that tends to promote the spiritual solidarity of our people. I therefore do not find fault with the Habonim even if they emphasize certain ceremonies and ceremonials. Symbolism plays an important part in life. It dramatizes ideas and ideals. This world of ours would be a prosaic place were it not for the poetry and beauty created by ceremonies. The Habonim need not apologize for their ritual. Habonim need not fear criticism. Criticism is aroused by every organization that is a living vital movement. Do all you can, Habonim, in your own manner, to promote the spiritual solidarity of Israel.

In order to determine the part that will be played by American Jewry in the Jewish Agency in accordance with the terms of the Mandate for Palestine held by the British Government there will take place in New York City October 20 and 21 a conference of leading non-Zionists representing Jews all over the continent. Louis Marshall, president of the American Jewish Committee, will preside over this conference as he presided over the one held in 1924 and the one in 1925. It was in February, 1924, that Louis Marshall, Judge Horace M. Stern, Colonel Herbert H. Lehman and Dr. Cyrus Adler called the first Non-Partisan Conference on Palestine to consider problems rising out of the interest of American Jews in the Palestinian venture. Attending it were representatives of American Jews who have been known as non-Zionists for thirty years. The conference met again the next year to adopt a resolution calling for a Jewish Agency to consist of a council and executive constituted by a substantial representation of non-Zionists.

You will remember that in 1927 Dr. Chaim Weizmann and Louis Marshall named a body of experts under the leadership of four high commissioners making up the Palestine Survey Commission to investigate exhaustively conditions of all kinds in Palestine which had bearing on the upbuilding of the Holy Land. Their report has already been accepted with reservations by the Zionist Organization session in Berlin in August. This month it will have the attention of the non-Zionist divisions of American Jewry.

Mr. Marshall is right when he says the conference is a momentous event. He believes that the time has come for the adoption of a definite course of action concerning Palestine, one in which Zionists and non-Zionists can work together in harmony. His group represents power, money, class, interest without passion, and the beautiful ability to listen one to the other and all to one. A wicked, shameless wag from some of the less polite sectors of Jewry might call these gentlemen the Goyishe front to the Zionist enterprise. However, although they can't sing "Hativah" they have more influence than some who know all the verses and they are going to say what they will do. Attention, then, October 20.

The incident in Massena, N.Y., following the disappearance of a Gentile child and centering around the quizzing of an Orthodox rabbi as to whether Jews ever make human sacrifices on a holiday, has been called closed by the state police investigating officer. The little girl having been found in the woods without the help of the Jews just as she wandered away without their knowledge, and the milling crowds having dwindled from the streets, the police officials and the mayor have apologized and consider the matter over and fit to be forgotten by all concerned. In a way this might as well be.

The Jews of Massena and their rabbi who was summoned to police station for an incredible purpose can obtain little redress in return for the nervous strain of the Yom Kippur days and the high tension under which they took part in services Sunday evening. Something of their feeling may be understood from the signed statement of Rev. Brennglass: "I was called by Trooper McCann to come to the police station. When I came I was asked by the trooper the following questions: Do you know that a child was lost? I answered yes. Have you a holiday to-morrow? Answer, Yes. Could you inform me if your people in the old country are offering human offerings on a holiday? Answer: I am dreadfully surprised to hear such a foolish, ridiculous and contemptible question from an officer in the United States of America, which is the most enlightened and civilized country in the world. Do you realize the seriousness of this question? The trooper said then that a foreigner told him so. I told him that it is a false and malicious accusation. Then the trooper asked again a question. Did your people offer human offerings in the olden times? My answer was in the negative. I then told the trooper that we shall have to know who the foreigner is, he is dangerous and should be taught a lesson that he is in the United States of America, and I left the station."

Unfortunately this is the one sort of happening which can never be called closed for good and all. Governor Smith expressed his horror at the resurrection of the libelous myth of ritual murder and everything he says goes forth to the world. Louis Marshall of the American Jewish Committee is the spokesman for the outraged Jews of Massena and their co-religionists throughout the country. Jewish heads of this and that organization and most especially the always voluble politicians are loud in their indignation and their denunciation of the dumb-bell officials who blundered into this stupid mess. Every effort put forth in this case, such as the movement to displace the town mayor and the suggestion to punish the state trooper who questioned the rabbi, etc., although not uncalled for, can only make matters worse. Such action keeps the thing alive longer and widens through publicity the circles of lingering suspicion.

Wherever Jews live on this continent they will retain their deep sense of shock because actually in this land far away from those black, backward countries where Jews stay trapped for life, such an absurdity could rear itself up as an investigation based on the belief of police officials in the myth of ritual murder! Ignorant Gentiles and some not so ignorant will be unwilling or unable to relinquish that poisonous atom of lingering distrust against Jews in general. In time it will be nothing much that the handful of Jews of Massena went through several days in a serious situation when they feared for their safety. Even the resentment and hurt of the Orthodox rabbi will be eased after enough years have elapsed. The Jewish island within Massena will carry on as usual. But relations between human beings and human beings, children and adults, have been bruised and have suffered damage. The flavour of buried resentment and insult is hard to eradicate in any case. Even an infinitesimal trace of doubt muddies up the delicate stream of human relationship. I.L.C.

SLAUGHTER OF ANIMALS (SCOTLAND) BILL

At a session in the House of Lords a few weeks ago, Lord Balfour of Burleigh, moved the second reading of the Slaughter of Animals (Scotland) Bill, which provides for the use of the humane killer in the case of cattle and sheep, and which has passed through all its stages in the Commons. He said that the object of the Bill was to get rid, as far as possible, of all avoidable cruelty in the slaughter of animals for use for human food. There was now no longer any opposition to the slaughtering or stunning of cattle by means of the humane killer; it had been found that in their case, humanity and convenience went together. In the case of sheep, the balance of convenience could not yet be said to be so greatly on the side of the humane killer, but there was were in favour of its use claimed that it was not sufficiently against them to prevent its introduction.

The Duke of Buccleuch, who had a motion on the paper for the rejection of the Bill, said objection was taken to it by the Farmers' Union in Scotland. Swine were excepted from the Bill, and special exemptions were made to meet the requirements of Jewish and Moslem laws. If a Bill of this kind were to be passed, it ought to apply to every person, without exception. A large number of people maintained that the system of what was called humane slaughter was not satisfactory. Why should the Bill apply only to Scotland? If the new system of slaughtering was as satisfactory as those who advocated it claimed, it ought to be enforced in all parts of the country. The objection to the Bill, however, would practically disappear if the matter were left to local authorities.

Ruth and Gertrude Kriss are the eight-year-old twins of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kriss, 24 Brunswick Avenue. Their mother claims that she can tell which is which, but M. Frank, principal of the Talmud Torah, where these girls learn to speak Hebrew, says that to him Rocheles is always Gitteles and vice versa. One of these days their pictures are going to be in THE REVIEW and you can see how right he is. These children hear lots of discussion on Jewish problems.

Says Ruth: "Mother, why don't the Christians like the Jews?"

Answers Gertrude: "Because the Christians are narrow-minded."

Ritual Death Quiz Stirs Ire

Informed by Rabbi Stephen S. Wise that the disappearance of a child at Massena, N.Y., had resulted in the summoning of a Jewish rabbi to be questioned about a "ritual murder," Gov. Smith promptly took action, October 3.

Expressing to Dr. Wise his amazement that "this libelous myth" had been resurrected, he ordered an immediate investigation of the State trooper who, according to reports, had had a part in summoning the rabbi. He pointed out that he has no immediate control over the Mayor of Massena, who, according to despatches, had issued the summons, but that the Public Officers' Law provides means for bringing charges against mayors.

His letter to Dr. Wise follows:

"I had not heard before this hour, when your message reached me, of the rumour of ritual murder which developed on Jewish atonement day at Massena, St. Lawrence County.

"As Governor of the State, I cannot believe that this libelous myth has been resurrected and credited even for a moment by any one connected with the service of the State or any of its civil divisions. I can hardly believe that either the Mayor of Massena or a State trooper summoned a rabbi to a police station on a religious holiday in connection with an absurd ritual murder charge to account for the disappearance of a child which, I learned, was found again within a few hours.

"I wish to assure you that I will see to it as the Governor of the State of New York that this matter is investigated in the most thorough manner as to the action of the State trooper. I have, however, no control over the mayors of villages. The Public Officers' Law provides means of making charges against them."

The letter of Louis Marshall demanding that Mayor W. Gilbert Hawes of Massena apologize for his alleged implication that the Jews of that place might have kidnapped a four-year-old girl for a Yom Kippur blood sacrifice, was reinforced by two other communications.

One was a telegram from Morris J. Mendelsohn, President of the Jewish Council of Greater New York, calling upon Mayor Hawes to resign immediately. The other was a letter addressed to the city official by Assemblyman Julius S. Berg, Commander-in-Chief of the Jewish Veterans of the Wars of the Republic, threatening to proceed against him if he did not resign from office.

The flood of correspondence was initiated from the reported disappearance from her home in Massena on September 22, two days before Yom Kippur, of the little daughter of a factory hand. According to Mr. Marshall, Mayor Hawes ordered a State trooper to question the rabbi of the local Jewish congregation at the police station. The child was later found in the woods, where she had strayed by herself.

An official report on the "blood sacrifice" incident was made public by Capt. J. Broadfield of Troop B, State police. Mayor Hawes was not mentioned. The report was written by the troopers involved.

It related that after Barbara Griffith's disappearance, a Jewish boy, "admittedly of low intelligence," came to the troopers, said his name was Jacob Shaulkin and volunteered in a rambling way that the girl might be at any one of several places which he mentioned.

As the girl disappeared on a Saturday and the Jewish holiday of atonement was on Monday, the troopers thought this sub-normal boy might have destroyed her in a "blood sacrifice."

To learn if there was any custom which might have been distorted by this boy, causing him to take the girl's life, the troopers asked Morris Goldberg, who said he knew nothing about it, and suggested that Rabbi Burlinglass be questioned. This was done, and the incident was reported by the rabbi to his congregation, the report said.

Louis Marshall's letter to Mayor Hawes follows:

"Dear Sir:

"Communications from several prominent citizens of your county, as well as from the representative of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency, inform me that one of the most shocking exhibitions of bigotry that has ever occurred in this country took place in your village on September 23, 1928, and that you, together with Corporal H. M. McCann of Troop B of the State Police, were active participants in the outrage perpetrated.

"The facts as they have come to me are that on the previous day, Barbara Griffith, a four-year-old child living in your village, disappeared; that she had at the request of her mother gone into the nearby woods to look for her older brother, and that she was found wandering in the woods about a mile from her home at about half past four on the following day. It was learned that, failing to find her brother at the place indicated, she went further into the woods, lost her way, became fatigued, fell asleep, and on awakening continued her wanderings until found by two young ladies who were looking for her.

"On this same Sunday, which was the eve of the Day of Atonement, which is the most important day in the Jewish religious calendar, Rabbi Berel Brennglass, the Rabbi of Congregation Adath Israel of Massena, was summoned by Corporal McCann to proceed to police headquarters, as the result of an arrangement between you and him, for the purpose of being interrogated. A mob of several hundred was awaiting his arrival in a state of unusual excitement. In accordance with pre-arrangement with you, Corporal McCann proceeded to interrogate the rabbi on the intolerable assumption that the Jews required the blood of Christian children for their holy days, and that this accounted for the disappearance of the little girl. One of the questions put was: 'Is tomorrow a big holiday, a fast day?' An affirmative answer having been given, the next question was: 'Can you give any information as to whether your people in the old country offer human sacrifices?' Thereupon the rabbi, with great indignation, expressed his astonishment that any public officer in the United States would dare to put such a question. The rabbi was then asked if there was a time when the Jewish people used human blood, to which he not only replied in the negative, but added that not only the use of human blood but also of animal blood was forbidden by the Jewish faith. Corporal McCann then stated that he did not wish the rabbi to think that this idea originated with him, but that a foreigner had impressed him with it.

"You are probably aware of the annoyance, excitement and indignation aroused by this occurrence among the members of the rabbi's congregation, and the mental agony which they suffered when they learned that in this free country the accursed blood accusation, which during medieval times wrought so much misery to the Jews, was directed at them. I am also informed that on Tuesday of last week you admitted of your own accord that this procedure had been suggested by you to the trooper, and that both of you came to the synagogue on the afternoon of that day and apologized for the wrong done and were informed that the members of the congregation could not accept the apology.

"To me it seems inexpressibly horrible that this vile slander, which has been demonstrated over and over again to have no foundation in fact, should be resurrected in this State of ours by public officers, upon whom rests the duty of protecting every member of the community against acts of bigotry and fanaticism and to prevent rather than to inspire sentiments calculated to lead to riots, violence and possible bloodshed. What has occurred does not merely affect the Jews of Massena, whose very lives were placed in jeopardy, but the entire Jewish population of this country and of the world is directly concerned in putting down the abominable superstitution which, due to your action, might have resulted in one of those many calamities recorded on the bloody pages of medieval, and even modern European, history. The very thought that public officials in this day and age can seriously entertain the idea that adherents of one of the great religions of the world practice human sacrifice, is an abomination and betokens unfitness for public office. Fortunately the little girl was found before official irresponsibility culminated in mob violence.

"Some of the most distinguished Popes in history characterized this slander as a brutal and inhuman falsehood, the dissemination of which was forbidden in the strongest terms. A few years ago in the case of Mendel Beilis, which took place at Kiev in Russia just before the World War the greatest authorities in science and history testified that there was not even the shadow of a reason to support such a belief. It was shown that of all people on earth the Jews were from the very beginning forbidden to eat even animal blood. (Genesis, c. xix., v. 3 and 4; Leviticus, c. iii., v. 17; c. vii, v. 26 and 27; c. xvii, v. 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14; Deuteronomy, c. xii, v. 23, 24 and 25; c. xv, v. 23.) Beilis was triumphantly acquitted, even though the Czaristic Government, for political reasons, had bent all of its energies to secure a conviction. A few years previously, Prof. Masaryk of the University of Prague, now the President of Czecho-slovakia, wrote an immortal book in denunciation of the very superstition to which you now, as the Mayor of an enlightened community in this great State of ours, have attempted to give currency. At your instance a minister of religion has been shamelessly interrogated for the purpose of establishing that, on their holiest of days, the Jews of your town were engaged in a conspiracy to murder [illegible] blood might be used in an unholy rite. Such an attitude argues a woeful ignorance not only of the very Bible which the Christian world has accepted, but of the long history, the ethics and the moral principles, and the customs and traditions of the Jewish people, of whom two millions live right here in the State of New York.

"As the President of the American Jewish Committee, I deem it my duty to demand of you an immediate and public written apology to the Jewish people for the terrible wrong which you have inflicted upon them, for this wanton attack upon their religion and upon their honour, and for the abuse of your official position in encouraging the circulation of this unspeakable calumny. This apology must be couched in such terms as will meet with my approval, so that the world may know that the remorse which you have expressed is genuine. As further evidence, you should also resign from the office which you now hold. Unless you shall at once pursue one or the other of these two courses, I shall regard it to be my duty to institute proceedings which I have been authorized to take under Section 36 of the Public Officers' Law, before the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, for your removal from office on the ground of official misconduct. I shall wait for a few days for an indication from you as to whether it shall be necessary for me to adopt the latter course.

"Yours regretfully,
(Signed) Louis Marshall."

GIRL WILL NOT SELL DRESS MADE IN CLASS

With the idea of showing the trustees the type of sewing and garment-making that is being done in the public schools, samples of the work of the girls were displayed before the members of the board of education meeting Thursday, October 4.

Among the garments shown to the trustees was a pretty little green dress made by Annie Cohen, of William Houston School, for her sister. She took a $3 prize at the C.N.E. for it and she has been offered $10 for the dress but refuses to sell it. There are forty-three household science centres in the public schools.

must some women still try to operate a laundry at home? It costs more, takes time needed for other things, and doesn't give as uniformly good results as this laundry does on "family wash." A phone chat with one of our squad of young ladies will help you to a better understanding of what this modern laundry is doing and what our five different services cost. And be sure to ask about the soft water and pure soap.

CARD OF THANKS

All notices under this head twenty-five cents per count line

Mrs. S. Merker and daughters, Mrs. Francis Shoenbrod and Mrs. Helen Steinberg, wish to thank their many friends for their kind expressions of sympathy during their bereavement.

The national funeral given to Maurice Bokanowski, Minister of Commerce and Aviation, who was killed in an airplane accident, had a character of real and impressive grandeur. Premier Poincare and all those of the late Minister's colleagues who could followed behind the dead man's sons as mourners. Innumerable wreaths were sent by those who had known the Minister in his private and public life. President Doumergue, his colleagues in the Cabinet, Chamber of Deputies, Senate, and the various ministries with which he was connected, all foreign embassies and ministries; the city of Paris division which he represented in Parliament for many sessions, the Commerce and Aviation Services, and many other public and private bodies sent wreaths until the courtyard of the Ministry in the Rue de Grenelle was piled high with flowers, too heavy and too numerous to find a place on the four cars which had been reserved for them. Two aviation regiments formed a guard of honour, and while the body was being placed in a hearse a military band played the "Marseillaise." The body was interred in a Jewish cemetery and rites were performed by a rabbi.

Rabbi Isserman's Editorials

States, and in the State of New York, one-third or one-fourth of whose population is Jewish, seems almost incredible. That in a State whose attorney-general is a Jew, where the two major parties have nominated the one a Jew for governor and the other a Jew for lieutenant-governor, this myth should be menacingly revived is indicative of the dangerous heights to which bigotry has risen in the United States. Of course, the child was found in Massena. The officials have made apologies. Governor Smith has ordered a full investigation. Stephen S. Wise, for the American Jewish Congress, and Louis Marshall, for the American Jewish Committee, have voiced protests. Dr. Wise was at Albany to participate in the official investigation. But after all, what is to be done? The daamge is irreparable. Full publicity of the incident and drastic action with the officials may prevent its occurrence in some other backwoods village. But it is indeed a sad commentary on American civilization that in the year 1928 in a country founded on the bedrock of religious liberty, one of the worst expressions of medieval intolerance and brutality should appear.

A New York rabbi, in his Simchath Torah sermon, suggested that publicity for Jewish services and the attendance of non-Jews at the synagogue would tend to prevent the spread of such rumours. Holy Blossom Synagogue of Toronto has for year carried out this policy. Its services have always been open to the public, and many Christians have taken advantage of the opportunity to visit the synagogue. It is not an unusual thing to find several hundred non-Jews in attendance at a synagogue service. In addition to that the periodic broadcast of regular services, and the broadcast this year of Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur services have not only been of help to Jews confined to their homes, but have indicated to our neighbours that no secret magic rites are practised, nor any weird occurrences take place in the synagogue. Judaism is a noble faith, and the more widely its beautiful worship is disseminated, the less frequently will men give credence to rumours and myths like that which led to the outbursts in Massena, N.Y.

GIVE WHILE YOU LIVE!

To give or not to give is not the question
Whether it is nobler in a man to share
The good that God has blest him with,
Or to hoard all for himself
Is not the question
There's none so base and none
So brazen would dare say that,
But whether a man shall Feel within himself the urge
To do all that he can to help
The poor, the sick, the oppressed,
Or by a meagre dole
Strive to avoid responsibility—
That is the question, to give
And more, to freely give
In such a way that those we help,
No longer need our help, but stand alone,
Is a kind of giving to be highly praised.

Its resources in lumber, minerals, water, power, fish, game and scenery are immense. The land calls for men to cultivate it, and in return will give health, comfort and prosperity.

What settlers say of the soil, climate farming and forest life, is told in a most attractive booklet issued under the direction of the Honourable John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario. Full instructions in regards to acquiring a title to these rich agricultural lands are also given.

Editorial

will be a breeding ground of jealousies and quarrels.

(h) The whole Agency scheme is half-baked and in all probability will never amount to anything.

(i) Lord Melchett, so his story runs, never did approve of the Agency scheme. He had favoured the idea of sending a commission of experts to report on the economic situation in Palestine, and subsequently approved of its findings, simply because he realized the value of objective information. He co-operated with the Agency Commission in so far as it was an instrument of obtaining reliable data concerning Palestine. He did not sympathize with the motives behind the Commission's research work, and disassociated himself from them.

(j) Lord Melchett was not concerned with the standard of living in Palestine. The country, standing on its own legs, without public subsidy, could not afford its Jewish pioneers a higher norm of living than that enjoyed by the Yemenite Jews, which is considerably lower than that of the European immigrants. If sound economics make for a Yemenite standard of living, then let us have the Yemenite standard, but do not ask for artificial support from outside sources.

In analyzing Lord Melchett's views on the value of the public efforts on behalf of Palestine as represented by the Zionist organization, the fact must be borne in mind that Lord Melchett is a rabid and extreme individualist, with a horror of anything that savours of public ownership or socialism. Lord Melchett has his pet economic theories—the well-known doctrines of an anti-public-ownership industrialist. In dealing with Palestine he refuses to take into account the sentimental or idealistic equations which bulk so large in the situation. He is determined ruthlessly to apply his private ownership principles, even if doing so means the reduction of the standard of living to the depressed level of the Yemenite Jews. Lord Melchett is concerned with the economic system of Palestine. He is not concerned with the happiness of the masses; with the quality of the civilization that is to be nurtured there.

It is needless to say that the majority of Zionists will disagree with Melchett's conception of Zionism or Palestine. The contribution of the Jewish public to Palestine funds is not a matter of charity. It is rather a tribute to an idea; a means of self-redemption. And it is also unsound to assume that Palestine is a sort of colony of aborigines worthwhile as a field of exploitation for foreign industrialists. Palestine is the temple of the Jewish world. The Jews want Palestine to be a land of beauty and noble ideals. They will shudder at the thought of its being an Asiatic slum.

When Lord Melchett deals with the Agency matter, however, ideological considerations disappear, and we are left to consider a purely practical situation. And here it is obvious that Lord Melchett is on solid ground. The Agency proposition is reducible to the common every-day terms of utility. Is the Agency practicable? This is not a question of metaphysics. It is a question of practical policy. Lord Melchett says it is not. He is capable of sizing up the situation. Will the Agency, if formed, be helpful in the sphere of politics? Melchett says no. This is a question of "Realpolitik" which Lord Melchett is particularly competent to deal with. Will the Agency, if formed, make for unity among the Jews? Lord Melchett knows human nature, and understands the play of group motives. He says that the Agency will necessarily provoke friction between the Zionists and non-Zionists. Will the Agency prove itself a factor in raising large funds for Palestine? Lord Melchett cancels the probable value of the Agency's achievements in this direction.

Lord Melchett is one of the shrewdest men of affairs in the world to-day. One disagrees with his Zionist philosophy. But one must concede that he is sound in his estimate of the practical situation surrounding the Agency proposition. The Agency idea is vicious in conception and impracticable as a scheme of action.
